

WORKSHOP „URBAN ANIMATION“

1.1. Description

In this workshop we will animate a short film with collected material from your city. We will collect waste items in the streets and design faces. These creations will be placed into an urban location, like a park, a street, an abandoned house, ect.

The faces will tell something, sing, scream, or just make abstract noises. We will animate streets-walks from one face to the next one in order to integrate them into one single film.

This workshop is a new, modified version of my on going „Recyclers“ workshops, which i hold all over the world since 2013. It is directed to kids as well as students and adults. No animation skills are required.

1.2. Schedule

The first day we will collect waste in the streets and look for interesting urban locations, where the final animation will take place. The second day the faces will be animated, as well as the walk to and away from the faces. The third day is dedicated to the sound design.
